

QESH Policy Statement

Airborne Oil & Gas B.V. (AOG) is strongly committed to continuous improvement of its Quality, Environmental, Safety & Health performance.

This QESH policy is an integral part of AOG's QESH management system and forms the basis for conducting our business activities in compliance with ISO 9001 and API Specification Q1 standards and applicable QESH laws and regulations.

Our Vision

We believe the inherent benefits of Thermoplastic Composite Pipe (TCP) will lead to its wide application in offshore oil & gas, and other demanding applications.

We have the knowledge, skill, technology and commitment – the people – to remain the leader in this field. We need to know more than anybody else in the field of design, behaviour and manufacturing of Thermoplastic Composite Pipe. And we need to cooperate with supply chain, engineering, service and installation partners and customers to build on their knowledge, and co-create new knowledge, in areas where we cannot excel.

Our Mission

- We provide our customers with Thermoplastic Composite Pipe systems that offer tangible benefits and meet or exceed their expectations, in applications where we choose to compete.
- We improve our products, and develop new ones, to remain relevant and competitive.
- We ensure our employees excel as our most valuable and fundamental asset in a healthy, safe, exciting and profitable working environment.
- We strive to create a profitable company, that respects its social and environmental surroundings.

Our Commitment

- We are a committed and reliable manufacturer that is accountable for its products and their performance.
- We have appropriate and effective management systems in place for the industry we serve.
- We establish a proactive culture of prevention and improvement adopting a risk-based approach.
- We respect and comply with legal requirements, legislations and relevant industry standards.
- We provide a Healthy & Safe work environment to all employees and contractors, and those who use our products. Zero Lost Time Injuries is our goal.
"There is always time to do it safely" is the basic attitude for all our activities.
- We respect human rights and encourage ethical behavior throughout our company.
- We care for the environment. We are committed to the efficient use of materials & energy resources, preventing pollution and reducing the environmental impact of our operations and products.
